

IBERIAN LAWYER

March / April 2011

The end of the affair?

Portuguese constitutional crisis

Lawyers warn of continuing uncertainty

Cajas under pressure

Institutions in search of new capital

A partnership of equals

Small is beautiful in Lisbon

Re-formulating
Barcelona's economy

Brazil's sustainable future

Iberia's
projects paralysis

Sérvulo elects new Managing Partner

Leading Portuguese public law and commercial firm Sérvulo & Associados has announced the appointment of a new Managing Partner, Pedro Furtado Martins, and a move away from the dual Managing Partner structure that had characterised the firm since the merger of Sérvulo Correia & Associados and Ferreira Pinto & Associados in 2008.

Pedro Furtado Martins

Already a member of the firm's Executive Board, Furtado Martins assumes the new role at the start of April, taking over from co-Managing partners Fernando A Ferreira Pinto and Rui Medeiros.

Furtado Martins is an employment law specialist, and was previously a senior partner with Ferreira Pinto & Associados. He continues the strong academic tradition at Sérvulo and will continue to hold a professorship at Lisbon's Catholic University. His tenure as Managing Partner will initially last two years.

The firm has also elected partners Ricardo Guimarães and João Saúde to the Executive Board.